

THE ARIZONA REPUBLIC

April 19, 2007

UA research viewed as good start on health care issues

Richard de Uriarte, editorial writer

The Arizona Republic

Apr. 15, 2007 12:00 AM

Quick Hit: I have no idea what set of recommendations the 150 participants at the Arizona Town Hall will come up with this week at their Prescott session on health care. They are charged with developing answers to accessibility, affordability and accountability. I do know the background report prepared by University of Arizona researchers has been very well received for its depth and wealth of information.